

Live Spelling: May Eve 2020

Intention:

- What follows is my intention, what is yours?
- I will connect with the season of this land, acknowledge the winds of change moving through the world, and invite the Wheel to turn from spring to summer. May my people Change and lean into Relationship with Terra

Preparation:

Gather:

- Pole (1: stick, broom, staff, something long and preferably wooden)
- Ribbon (1: a strip of cloth, ribbon, thin, long, thick, preferably moves/flows, preferably natural fibers)
- Stones (4: local to your physical location or crystals)
- Light source (1: candle, lamp, etc.)
- Cup with water (1: any type of container and potable water)
- (optional) Magical surge protector (see video)

Arrange:

- Stones to 4 directions (South, West, North, East)
- (optional) Magical surge protector with computer
- Light source wherever feels appropriate
- Pole set up ideally in an upright position, leaning on a wall, somewhere easily to reach, center of the space may be enjoyable
- Ribbon laid around base of pole

Live Spelling: May Eve 2020

- State Intention
- Feel into the world, feel into the season, feel into the changes
- Start moving, freely, following impulse, acknowledge the Winds, the Changes, using the stones to anchor their directionality
 - Perhaps start to the South, touching that stone, looking to the distance and call the Southern Winds, the changes that shift, that ease, that sooth and invigorate
 - Perhaps move to the West, touching that stone, feeling into the West, calling the Western Winds, the changes that release, that leg go, that bid farewell [next time will be evolution]
 - Are you inspired to move to the North, touching that stone? Will the Northern Winds come, transforming what they touch? [next time will be release]
 - Let the impulses continue to move you, perhaps to the East, to touch the stone, to call to the Eastern Winds and the winds of reversal, the topsy turvyness winds
 - Travel around as feels right, perhaps spiraling to the center, perhaps moving randomly, let yourself feel the evolution within and without from change until you come to stillness at the center [next time will be transformation, stillness stays stillness]
- From the stillness, let your attention come to the Pole. Feel the shift of wooden shaft to divine masculinity, to fecundity, connected to the thrusting rush of life coming into being all around us. Feel the ribbon shift to divine femininity, to gravidness, connected to the growing of life, the passion and desire and longing that inspires us.
 - Begin to dance. Perhaps your feet want to move first, perhaps your hands. Do your eyes lead you or your hips?
 - Do you want to dance with the Pole? Or the Ribbon?
 - Dance, feeling into the magick, into your Self, into the Land, the feet of our Ancestors, lead forward by our Deities, framed by the Death that is the compost for the new life.
 - Where do you need life to go? What hopes do you dance into the world? What release do you seek?
 - Find connection of the ribbon and the pole! Let your power infuse them, be filled with their power. Let the connection find the conclusion that is natural, come back into stillness.
- Hail and honour the divine feminine, the divine masculine
- Encourage the energies around you to go to the ribbon, the pole, yourself, the land, as each of you need and can take in
- Offer gratitude and farewells to the 5 Winds
- When done, if you cast circle, release it

Leaving Sacred Space:

- Take a final and first Breath
- Quench the Light
- Release the Water (drink or put to plant or to land)
- Gratitude to the Land
